CASEMENT

Put On Trial For His Life Upon the Charge of High Treason.

Sir Roger Denies Receiving German Gold For Irish Revolt.

Attorney Sullivan Faints While Making Powerful Plea to Jury.

MAKES PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Sir Roger Casement was on Thursday found guilty of the charge of high treason in connection with the recent Irish rebellion. The jury was out a little over an hour. He was sentenced to death. Sir Roger received the sentence with the utmost composure, smiling at friends in the court room. His statement, which occupied a half hour, was a plea for the right to be tried by Irish men and for Irish nationality.

Sir Roger Casement, chief in the Sinn Fein revolt in Ireland, on Monday faced trial for his life on a charge of high treason in the High Court of Justice in London. Up to the very moment of the opening of the trial no indication was given by his counsel as to what would be the nature of the accused man's defense. Francis R. Doyle, of Philadelphia, who has been retained by Casement's family, refused to say anything beyond denying a report that his client would throw himself on the mercy of the Government.

At 10:30 o'clock a clerk in the court of the Lord Chief Justice called out: "The King versus Sir Roger Casement, while the trial of the High Court of Justice in London, up to the very moment of the opening of the trial no indication was given by his counsel as to what would be the nature of the accused man's defense. Francis R. Doyle, of Philadelphia, who has been retained by Casement's family, refused to say anything beyond denying a report that his client would throw himself on the mercy of the Government."

At 10:30 o'clock a clerk in the court of the Lord Chief Justice called out: "The King versus Sir Roger Casement, while the trial of the High Court of Justice in London, up to the very moment of the opening of the trial no indication was given by his counsel as to what would be the nature of the accused man's defense. Francis R. Doyle, of Philadelphia, who has been retained by Casement's family, refused to say anything beyond denying a report that his client would throw himself on the mercy of the Government."

"Money was offered to me in Germany more than once, and offered liberally and unconditionally, but I rejected every suggestion of the kind and I left Germany a poorer man than when I entered it. Money I could always obtain from my own countrymen, and I am not ashamed here to acknowledge the debt of gratitude I owe to many an Irish friend and sympathizer who did freely and gladly help me when I was on the continent. I trust I have made the statement clearly and emphatically enough for all men, even my bitterest enemies, to comprehend—that a man who in the newspapers is 'just another Irish traitor' may be a gentleman. The Attorney General of England thought it consistent with the traditions of which he is the public representative to make a thinly veiled allusion in his opening address to the rising in Ireland of which he brought forward no evidence in this case from first to last, and from which therefore you and I, gentlemen, as laymen would have supposed that he would scrupulously refrain from mentioning. Since the rising has been mentioned, however, I must say categorically that the rebellion was not directed from Germany, that it was not inspired from Germany, and that not one penny of German gold went to finance or assist it."

"Gentlemen, I have touched on these personal matters, because I intended as they were to reflect on my honor, they were calculated to tarnish the cause I hold so dear."

As Sir Roger made the declaration that he never had accepted German gold his voice trembled with emotion and he leaned toward the jury as though supplicating the jurors to believe his statement.

"As to my pension and the honor of knighthood conferred upon me I shall say one word only. The pension I had earned by service rendered and it was assigned by law. The knighthood it was not in my power to refuse. But there are in special four misstatements given in the evidence against me, which I must refute. First, I never at any time advised Irishmen to fight with the Turks against the Russians or fight with the Germans on the western front. Second, I never asked an Irishman to fight for Germany. I have always claimed that I have no right to fight for any land but Ireland. Third, the horrible insinuations that I got my own people's rations reduced to the starvation point because they did not join the Irish brigade is an abominable falsehood. The rations were necessarily reduced throughout Germany owing to the blockade, and they were reduced for the Irish prisoners at exactly the same time and to the same extent as for the German soldiers and the entire population of Germany. The other suggestion that my men were sent to punishment camps at my instance for not joining the Irish brigade is one that I need hardly pause to refute. It is devoid of all foundation."

"Fourth, gentlemen, there is the widespread imputation of 'German gold.' I owe it to those in Ireland who are assailed with me on this very ground to nail the lie once and for all. It was published by newspapers in America. I think originating in this country, and I cabled to America instructing my American lawyer, Mr. Doyle, to proceed against those papers for libel. Those who know me know the incredible of this malicious invention for they know from all my past records that I have never sold myself to any man or any Government and have never allowed any Government to use me. From the first moment that I landed on the continent until I came home again to Ireland I never asked or received a single penny of foreign money, either for myself or for any Irish cause or for any purposes whatsoever."

Immediately after the prisoner had finished speaking Serjt. Sullivan rose and began an eloquent address in summing up. The attorney said the charge against Sir Roger was that he had aided Germany during the war. He declared that Sir Roger was recruiting men for service in Ireland after the European war had ended and that there was no idea of giving aid to Germany. Sir Roger, he said, never had asked Irishmen to fight for Germany and not one atom of aid had been rendered to Germany. Serjt. Sullivan asserted the plan was that an Irish brigade was to be quartered in Germany until after the war. If Germany was successful the brigade was to proceed to Ireland to strike a blow for home rule. If Germany lost the brigade was to be sent to America."

Wednesday's session of the trial was brought to a sudden and dramatic close. While summing up for the defense Mr. Sullivan collapsed as he was in the midst of an impassioned appeal, and the court adjourned until Thursday morning.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen O'Doherty Ewing and Lee Standcliffe Read was solemnized Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass at the Church of St. Louis Bertrand. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Father Crowley, O. P., the bride being given away by her uncle, Judge Matthew O'Doherty. Miss Lucille Rielly was the maid of honor, and the ushers were Messrs. Louis Hackett and Rees Dickson. The bride wore a charming costume of white tulle over chiffon, mounted over white satin, cut V neck, with bertha and flounce of lace. Her tulle veil was arranged with orange blossoms in cap effect, worn off the face, and fell in graceful folds to the end of her long train. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was attired in pink tulle with pink chiffon sleeves, with hat of pink and lavender chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and lavender sweet peas. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was given at the home of the bride's uncle, Judge Matthew O'Doherty, and Mrs. O'Doherty, for the bridal party and the immediate family.

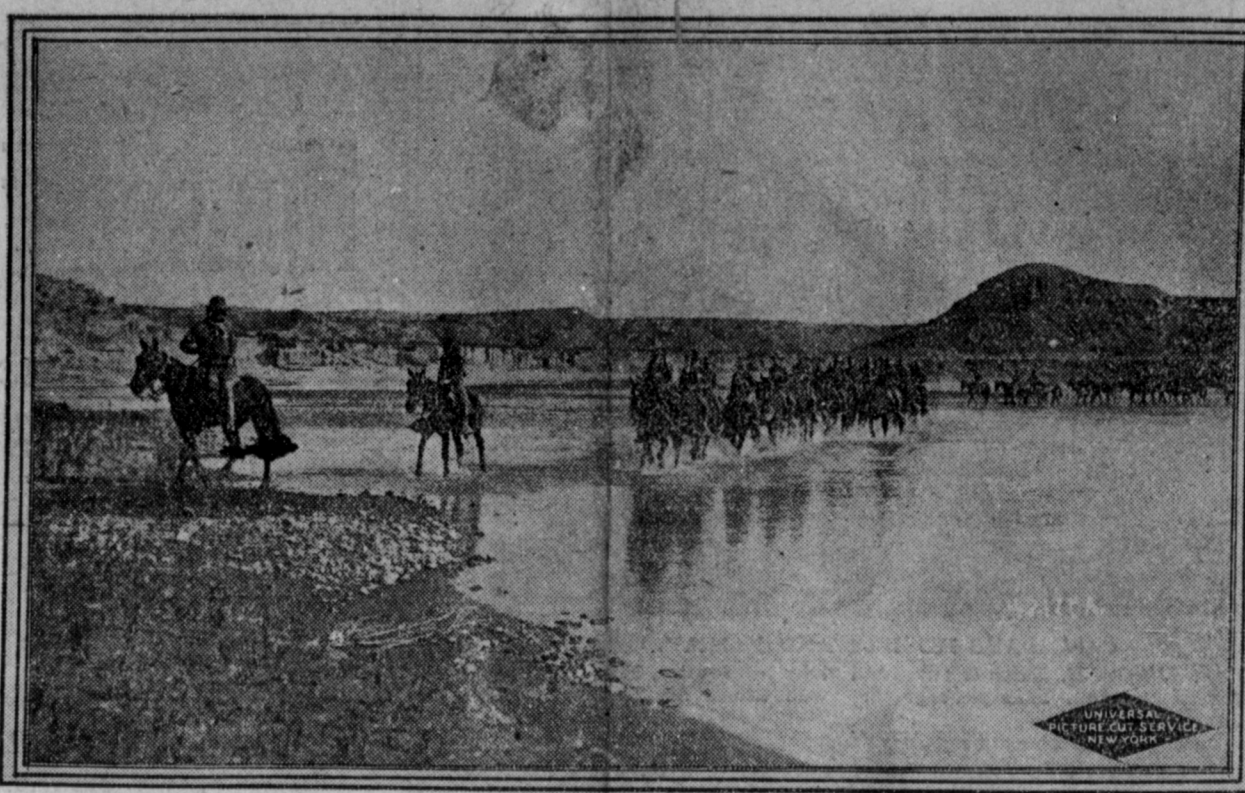

VICE PRESIDENT.

Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, re-nominated by the Democratic party.

YOUNG SOLDIER'S BRIDE.

Wednesday morning at St. Brigid's church Miss Eleanor Aloysius Schulten, a member of Company E, First Kentucky Infantry, Rev. Father Jansen, the pastor, performed the ceremony. The young soldier failed to pass the physical examination last week and thought he had been discharged. Therefore there was much surprise when he was ordered on the eve of the wedding to report at the Army. Capt. Colston heard the case and granted leave to Schulten, upon condition that he report soon after the wedding ceremony had been performed.

EDUCATORS.

Distinguished Gathering at the Thirteenth Annual Meeting at Baltimore.

Apostolic Delegate, Cardinals and Prominent Church Dignitaries Present.

Great Satisfaction Is Expressed Over Generous Hospitality of People.

RECEIVE HOLY FATHER'S BLESSING

Catholic educators and men prominent in educational work from all parts of the country gathered in Baltimore this week for the thirteenth annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association, which opened there on Tuesday morning and closed there on Thursday afternoon. Besides the Apostolic Delegate and Cardinal Gibbons, who were present at different sessions, many other church dignitaries were in attendance, thus lending their support to a movement which has at heart the closest and most vital interests of the church. A pleasant feature of the convention was the presence of Right Rev. Bishop O'Connell, of Richmond, the first President General of the association, whose efforts in the early days were such a strong factor in the growth and stability of the organization.

Nearly all the delegates had arrived Monday, when Executive sessions and committee meetings were held. On Tuesday morning the delegates and visitors attended a mass at the Cathedral of the Assumption. Right Rev. Owen B. Corrigan, D. D., V. G., Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore, welcomed the delegates in a few happy words. Immediately after mass the convention was opened in Calvert Hall assembly room, with an address by the President General, Right Rev. Bishop Shahan, rector of the Catholic University. The report of the Secretary General, Rev. Francis V. Howard, L. L. D., and of the Treasurer General, Rev. Francis T. Moran, D. D., were then presented, and after the appointment of committees and the transaction of routine business, the first paper of the convention was heard. It was read by V. Rev. Thomas E. Shields, Ph. D., professor of education at the Catholic University, on the subject of the present condition of education in the United States. Tuesday afternoon was entirely given over to departmental meetings.

Wednesday's meetings began with that of the College department, the mathematics and science section of which held a conference at 9 o'clock. At noon a general meeting of all members of the association was held for the election of officers, and in the evening Rev. M. J. Ahern, S. J., as Chairman, presented the report of the Committee on Educational Legislation. Business took up the larger part of Thursday's sessions—reports, resolutions, elections of officers, etc.

The visit of the Apostolic Delegate, Mgr. John Bonzano, at Wednesday's session, was an occasion of much pleasure to all in attendance. He spoke earnestly of the work of the association, and commended the efforts of all who have worked so hard to make it a success, and prophesied great things for its future efforts. He was the guest of honor at dinner that day at St. Mary's Seminary, where the Executive Board of the association and the members of the Seminary department dined with him by invitation of the President of the Seminary.

In response to a cablegram conveying to the Holy Father Benedict XV. the fealty of the delegates in attendance at the thirteenth annual convention, a reply was read on Thursday in which the Pope's blessing was bestowed on the convention, the delegates and all who strive to further the interests of Catholic education.

A most cordial reception was given the beloved Cardinal Gibbons on his visit to the general session on Thursday, when he gave a brief, spontaneous and heartfelt address and brought the thirteenth annual meeting of the Catholic Educational Association to a close. The delegates greeted the Cardinal and thanked him for the deep interest which he had manifested in the convention, as well as his kind and unflinching support of the work of the association.

Great satisfaction was expressed on all sides over the success of the generous hospitality of the Christian Brothers and of the Catholic educators and people of Baltimore.

ORPHAN PICNIC.

The last meeting before the Fourth of July orphans' picnic was held Monday night, and the enormous crowd that gathered to take part in the important work of the evening taxed the Knights of Columbus Hall to its utmost capacity. Enthusiasm and good spirit prevailed and every one predicted a great success. All parishes with few exceptions have been represented at the weekly meetings and the following answered to the roll call: Blessed Sacrament, St. Cecilia, St. George, Holy Name, St. John's, St. Louis Bertrand, St. Michael, St. Patrick's, St. Philip Neri, St. Agnes, St. Ann's, St. Brigid's, St. Charles Borromeo, St. Francis of Rome, Holy Cross, St. James, St. Leo's, St. Mary Magdalen, Church of Our Lady, St. Paul, Sacred Heart.

Inspiring addresses were delivered by Rev. T. L. Crowley, O. P., pastor of St. Louis Bertrand's, and Rev. J. T. Hill, pastor of St. Ann's church. "You are trying to let more sunshine into the lives of the orphans," said Father Crowley. "It is a noble work. You are striving to give these children a chance to enjoy the same things you enjoy. Your efforts in this society have been a source of emulation to me. I have been surprised at the wonderful organization in charge of the picnic. I am proud of the fact that our branch has been the banner one in the city, but we will strive to do even more in the future."

Father Hill said: "You are now almost at the goal, and you are working hard, running fast; but if there is one thought I would impress upon you it is this: Do your work not only for the orphans, but for God. In doing it for God you will thereby do more for the orphans. I know you are doing it for that intention, but it is simply a reminder. On one occasion when our Lord was well on a most profound subject his apostles were trying to put the children aside until He finished, but He said, 'Forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.' He loved them to climb upon his neck and put their little arms around his neck. Doing your work for the Lord Jesus Christ, who loves little children so much, I am sure you can not but succeed, and we will pray for the success of your labors."

Numerous donations were reported from all the committees Monday evening. The donors will be thanked after the picnic in letters sent by the proper officers of the society, and their names and donations published. Some committees have already secured as much as $150 from their work.

Miss Elizabeth Hayes, for the Junior Circle of the Queen's Daughters, stated that in the afternoon there will be a May pole dance and songs by the little girls of St. Vincent's. This together with the drilling of the boys under the direction of A. J. Chappell will be interesting features of the day.

The gates will open at 9 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 11 o'clock at night. The grounds are spacious and shady and plenty of benches will be afforded for the crowd, so that they may remain all day, if desired, and their stay made pleasant and comfortable. Parents are requested to bring their little children along as amusements will be furnished for their entertainment and pleasure. Tickets of admission are twenty-five cents and children under fourteen will be admitted free. There will be music by an excellent band, and no one need bring any lunch to the grounds, for the Chairman of the Dairy Lunch Committee believes he will have sufficient to feed the whole city of Louisville and at a nominal price.

BULL MOOSERS

In No Mood to Rally to the Support of Republican Nominee Hughes.

Progressives Kicking Themselves For Following Rough Rider Blindly.

Not Exerting Themselves to Again Line Up With Republican Party.

LIVELY CONTEST FOR CONGRESS

The old saying that "time heals all wounds" is not being borne out very strongly in the present political situation. The Bull Moosers and former Roosevelt followers are not warming up very strongly to the candidacy of Hughes, and as they realize more and more how basely they were deserted by their former idol the feeling against him is as pronounced as the self-humiliation. It goes against the grain of the average man most strongly to realize that he has been lynchwood or flamed, and the spectacle of the Progressives left high and dry in convention at Chicago holding the bag can not easily be forgotten. The delegates and Progressive supporters at Chicago were placed in the same attitude as the disappointed bride "waiting at the church," and the little bulletins sent from time to time by Roosevelt while he was hoping against hope to stampede the Republican convention were but old comfort for his blind followers who had never been able to size him up for his true value. Marching through the blinding rain, putting up with the discomforts of crowded hotels at enormous expense, while Roosevelt was planning to desert them, it is a picture they will not easily forget and no glossing over by the hired orators will convince them otherwise than that Teddy played them for suckers and each individual believes that he played the chief sucker role.

From different parts of the country comes the statement that this and that body of Progressives will not follow Roosevelt's dictation as to the support of Hughes, and then again many of the Republican leaders are beginning to believe that the Republican nominee is not of the type that will stir up enthusiasm. His nomination was not popular with the convention delegates, writers and political critics agreeing that the announcement of his victory received the coldest reception in convention history. The statements he has issued thus far in regard to Americanism and preparedness are of the stereotyped kind and do not have the true patriotic ring to them. It remains to be seen if the great American people will vote for a man of the cold sphinx-like type; it is a certainty that they will hardly inconvenience themselves to hear his addresses, as the announcement of a speech by the Republican nominee in any town or vicinity in the country just now would not bring together the enthusiastic gatherings that are characteristic of political campaigns. Wilson will prove the most popular figure of the two, and if it hadn't been for his anti-German policy and mistaken policy in Mexico it would not be hard to predict the outcome. As it is there is a doubt.

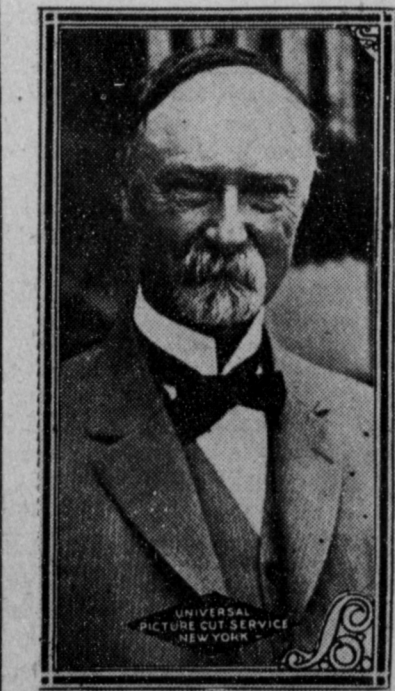

Here in Louisville the situation from the Republican-Progressive standpoint is pretty muddled. Burton Vance, the local Bull Moose leader, returned from Chicago far from being satisfied, and his followers may be a disturbing element in the Congressional race. There are four in the field for the Republican nomination, Dr. Ben Bruner, Major W. C. Owens, Frank Fairleigh and Dr. Lewis Ryan. Dr. Bruner will receive some of the Progressive support and several of the Men's Federation leaders help because of his prohibition views. Major Owens will have no certain backing, but will depend upon his ability as a campaigner for success. Frank Fairleigh will have the support of the Chilton-Searcy machine, which just now controls Republican politics absolutely. Fairleigh was selected as a substitute for Judge DuRelle, who was supposed to enter the race, but it is rumored that his defeat for the same office several years ago made him gun-shy and young Fairleigh has nothing to lose and all to gain. The fourth starter, Dr. Lewis Ryan, is far and away the strongest man in the race, having the solid support of the colored voters, and in addition "Doc" is a good fellow with lots of friends throughout the district. The Chilton-Searcy machine will have to be at its best to beat him in the opinion of political students.

Representative Will Perry will be a candidate to succeed Senator Sam Robertson in the Thirty-eighth district this fall and his splendid record in the lower house entitles him to the Democratic nomination without opposition. He will be opposed in the general election by Theodore Diehl, who was a Bull Moose candidate for Alderman on the Axton ticket in 1913. Axton will back Diehl in his race, this being in line with his policy to have his former supporters obtain a foothold in the Republican party and assist him in getting the Republican nomination for Mayor next year. It is said that the former Bull Moose leader will have big financial backing, but is evidently overlooking one important thing—a defeated candidate, like a pugilist, never comes back and a party deserter can not obtain recognition from his old associates. Roosevelt's fate being a warning to Axton.

EXCLUDES ULSTER COUNTIES.

A Nationalist convention of representatives from the six counties of Ulster which would be excluded from the operation of home rule for the period of the war under the plan of David Lloyd-George met at Belfast on Friday and by a vote of 475 to 265 accepted Lloyd-George's scheme. John Redmond, Nationalist leader, and Joseph Devlin thus secured no narrow marginal triumph, but virtually a two-thirds majority vote. This striking vote on the part of the Nationalists from counties especially affected by home rule means that a settlement of the situation virtually is in sight, as the Ulster Unionists already have accepted Lloyd-George's plan. Since this is the decision of Irishmen who will be excluded from the operations of home rule and who thus are principally concerned, it is not expected that any further serious opposition to the proposals will be made. The most powerful of all arguments that recommend the adoption of the settlement proposals was the clear intimation in the convention that John Redmond had staked his position and career upon acceptance by the convention of his advice. Joseph Devlin declared that the other Nationalist leaders were resolved to stand or fall with Redmond. Speeches denouncing partition were more fervent in tone than those which supported the recommendations of acceptance. Priests, who formed a large proportion of the 700 delegates, were almost all for rejecting the plan. John Dillon said he would not shed a tear if the convention rejected the proposed settlement, but that in view of all circumstances and the changed situation which the rebellion had brought about he felt certain that it was for the advantage of the cause of Ireland.

HON. CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS. Nominated by the Republican party for Vice President.

POPE WOULD HELP.

From Rome the Associated Press reports that Pope Benedict held a lengthy conference Saturday with the Spanish Ambassador. It is reported that he discussed the advisability of asking King Alfonso of Spain to mediate between the United States and Mexico. His Holiness views with the greatest regret the possibility of war between the two American republics. The Pope, since the beginning of the European war, has looked to the United States as the power most likely to take an effective step for peace in Europe at the proper time and to invoke respect for international law and the laws of humanity and all belligerents. He believes the United States would find it difficult to make a move for European peace while itself at war with Mexico. The Pope's advisers have told him that the King of Spain probably would prove acceptable to the United States if the American Government was willing to consider mediation. A wireless news agency dispatch circulated in London was to the effect that Pope Benedict would appeal to President Wilson and Gen. Carranza in an earnest endeavor to avoid war.

ENDORSED

Sanity of the Catholic View on Eugenic Conclusions Shown.

Long Ago Did Church Throw Safeguards Around Marriage.

A Noted Psychiatrist Declares Forcefully Against Extreme Legislation.

BALANCE WHEEL OF PROGRESS

The church is the balance wheel of human progress. Her quiet self-possession in the midst of great popular clamor for extreme reform has become proverbial. Calmly she points out the error and the danger in the radical demand of any particular place and period and at the same time recognizes its element of truth. Her own programme she can always show has long anticipated the need and provided for it. The widespread eugenic movement for the regulation of the marital relationship was a recent and interesting evidence of this old story. All of a sudden certain scientific gentlemen had awakened to the fact that all marriages were not productive of healthy or desirable offspring, and legislation of the extreme type was proposed to the great remedy. The State was to decide as to who should be married and who should not, and a compulsory physical examination was demanded for those about to enter upon the state matrimony.

Catholic thought could not agree with such a proposal. It pointed to the fact that the church had always recognized that there were certain marriages which, because of the evil results to health and morals of the offspring, were prohibited by the natural law. Their prevention was to be the work of moral restraint and education among the people rather than by arbitrary action of the State. As a last resource the State might indeed and should impose certain restrictive regulations for the common good, but these must not go too far. The church itself, through its century-old battle against vice, had been and is the greatest eugenic force in history. Of course, the church did not all please the gentlemen advocating the panacea-legislation. The church had for another time clearly outlived its "medieval" usefulness. Alas for them, the pendulum is swinging back again at this very early day. In the Survey of June 3, a very instructive article by Dr. Adolph Meyer, of John Hopkins University, vindicates the Catholic view. Dr. Meyer, it is well to note, is hailed by that journal as one of the greatest psychiatrists of the age. He emphatically declares that "the condition from heredity study can not be codified in the form of legislation. A careful student of the literature and of the facts of eugenics realizes the complexity of the problem and that the more we should be cautious about pushing everything to the point of legislative enactment." Even many of those of a so-called tainted strain can marry if proper care be exercised in the choice of a partner. Education is indeed needed and the prevention of undesirable matings. There is a sane remedy for this, however. "The first help," he says, "is protection of the foolish against playing with the holiest of all sacraments—the marriage. He points to the regulations in force in Switzerland, that 'no marriage license is valid that has not been posted for three weeks by the civil authorities and published in the newspapers.' It is this which he recommends for this country. 'Runaway matches and marrying parsons,' he says, 'have no place under such conditions.'"

Here we have a strong, unqualified endorsement of the stand which the church has taken. Long ago did she throw this suggested safeguard around marriage in the publication of the bans, three successive Sundays before the ceremony. Among the so-called "bleeders" of a mountain village in Switzerland do we see a whole section of the people under the influence of Catholic thought stamping out the disease with which they were afflicted—not by legislation—but by a voluntary vow of chastity. That is the way she has succeeded—by education and persuasion among the people. And when the doctor adds that he does not on the other hand wish to encourage "intentionally childless marriage," but that this problem should be met by a "greater measure of economic security among all classes," he again voices the attitude of the church on this subject. Certainly it is instructive to see one of such prominence in his science writing in this vein. Easy way along, the Survey declares, "is a call to clear, courageous thinking, away from the exaggerated fears founded on insufficient knowledge and also away from the false optimism founded on unwillingness to face the truth." It goes a long way, it also may be added, to show the sanity and practical applicability of Catholic truth. C. B. of C. V.

ANNIVERSARY.

With this issue the Kentucky Irish American celebrates its anniversary and enters upon its nineteenth year, grateful to its subscribers and advertisers for their unceasing support. Our hope is that they may continue with us until we reach our golden jubilee.

OFF FOR WAR.

About the proudest set of men who have gone forth to battle for their country is the Louisville Legion, now the First Kentucky Regiment, and the proudest man is Col. Colston, who will command this splendid body of men. With the best military band in the State in the lead playing enlivening march music the men swung into line at the Armory early Thursday morning. Out Sixth and down Broadway the troopers marched, and at every step they were cheered until they arrived at the Tenth-street depot, where they were greeted by an immense gathering. Not a man in the First Regiment at that time would have traded places with a king. After leaving-taking with relatives and friends, who wished them Godspeed, victory and safe return home, the boys were entrained for Fort Thomas, where their good appearance impressed the officers of the regular army. That this regiment will acquit itself creditably goes without saying. Godspeed our soldiers and may it be the Divine will that they soon return to Kentucky.

PREDICTION VERIFIED.

In its last week's issue the Kentucky Irish American predicted that the members of the Junior Order and Guardians of Liberty, who were ever boasting of their patriotism and venting their spleen against Catholics, whom they claimed could not be true American citizens and were creatures of the Pope, etc., would not be so keen for war with Mexico and their love for the flag would cool off suddenly. Here is the sequel taken from Monday's dailies:

"Asserting that hell was having its inning in America, the Rev. John Still, the pastor of St. John's Evangelical church and prominent Socialist orator, protested in a lecture at Macaulay's Theater last evening against war with Mexico. The audience adopted resolutions against the war, which were telegraphed to President Wilson."

The Rev. Still is the favorite orator of the Junior Order and is always conspicuous at their flag raisings, patriotic parades, etc. Our prediction came true in a hurry.

SENTIMENT OF CATHOLICS.

President Wilson has spoken, the national guard is being mobilized and a break with Carranza seems inevitable. In times like these, when the nation is menaced, American citizens have but one duty before them. Politics, personal opinion and all animosity must be cast aside, and every one of us must stand by the Chief Executive of the United States. Like the Indiana Catholic, we have differed with President Wilson on many questions, we have not hesitated to raise the voice of protest and criticism when we believed it right to do so, but today with war apparently being forced on us by Chief Bandit Carranza, all must and will sustain the President in his efforts to uphold the dignity of our nation. This we know is the sentiment of every Catholic in the United States, and the fact that the first American blood shed on Mexican soil was Catholic blood, goes to show that the Catholics of today, like their fellow Catholics during every struggle into which this nation has entered, are to be found in the forefront of the fighting. Now that we are facing trouble, now that we may be openly engaged in warfare at any time, it is our duty to stand by the President, to help him all we can, renew the proof that we are all Americans, pure and unalloyed, first, last and all the time.

CIVIL POWER RULES.

Martial law no longer rules the roost in Ireland. It has been abolished and the civil power is once more in the saddle. This is good news for the Irish people who have been made to realize that the military clique who were in authority had not had enough of blood-letting to gratify their sanguine thirst. Indeed it was a well-rooted belief that Maxwell and his Orange advisers were doing their utmost to drive the people into some show of resistance that would be an excuse for further shootings that would have given a death blow to home rule. The people, however, saw through the scheme and waited, and their patience has received its little reward. Martial law, like Kitchener, is a thing of the past.

MEANS ONE THING.

To the American the Fourth of July means one thing—and only one. It is the great national anniversary, and as such is fittingly celebrated. Not so very many of us know that on that day our noise and oratory is in commemoration of a formality only. The United States did not declare independence of England on July 4, 1776. As a matter of fact the few who constituted the governing body of the colonies merely signed a written statement to that effect, which they had agreed upon two days before. The actual declaration was made on July 2 and John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, declared his belief that July 2 would become a memorable date.

The fact that it is a Glorious Fourth of a particularly uproarious sort is due to Philadelphia, the scene of the Declaration. Here twelve years after the famous manifesto the first big celebration of the day took place. Very naturally it took a military turn, and the precedence thus established has yielded very slowly and very stubbornly to arguments for a "sane Fourth."

MEXICO.

We have come to it at last. After coddling Villa and Carranza, as the apostles of a new era in Mexico, we find ourselves face to face with war as a result of our folly. Most people have foreseen this outcome from the beginning, but it would be interesting to find out who or what force has been behind the blinding process which has effectually prevented for four years our responsible representatives from seeing things as they actually are. Murder will out. Some day we may learn about the secret forces that have evidently been at work. Meanwhile it looks as though we are preparing to do what we should have done from the first—to go down to Mexico and establish there a government of law and order and one that will recognize the rights of every man and the principles of civil and religious liberty.

Those men who are holding back for the purpose of organizing troops and companies for the war with Mexico are doubtless after commissions and big pay. Did they possess the real fighting spirit they would now be with their State regiments, where there is place for them and some others.

How many of the anti-hyphen crusaders have rushed to join the colors? Surely their boasted Americanism must rejoice in the opportunity they have of proving the faith that is in them. "Stand up and be counted," good people.

War can be of little benefit to any country. What it will gain to the conqueror will be offset by the hundred years' retard by loss of life, accumulation of debt and destruction of valuable property.

The Courier-Journal reporter who stated that there was only 30,000 people at the Shawnee Park patriotic demonstration must have thought he was sent out to cover a Republican meeting.

The Guardians of Liberty will be heard from—as soon as the war, if it be war, is over.

Only one class of hyphenates are missing in the enlistment rolls—the Anglo-Saxons.

The fighting Sixty-ninth was first on the job. No flies on that brand of hyphen.

CHANGE MEETING NIGHT.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday evening it was decided to postpone the next regular meeting of the division from Monday, July 10, to the following evening, Tuesday, July 11, because of the fact that the regular meeting date conflicted with that of St. Louis Bertrand's church picnic at Fern Grove. The application of Joseph D. Hennessy and John Hellen were received and reports of committees heard on pending applications.

PARISH PICNIC.

St. Louis Bertrand's church will give a parish picnic at Fern Grove on Monday, July 10, and the committee in charge hope to not only have a full attendance of the parish families on that occasion, but are extending an invitation to all former members of the parish to be present on that date and make the reunion complete. The picnic promises to be one big family affair and the Committee of Arrangements propose to see that everyone, young and old, has an enjoyable time. A baseball game between the Bertrand ball team and the Knights of Columbus team will be the feature. Managers Ray Haragan and Tom Cline promise to have their strongest lineups. Collins orchestra will furnish the music. Boats will leave foot of First at 9 and 1:30 o'clock, returning at 5 and 8.

RELIGIOUS PROFESSION.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock six young men of the Passionist order will be admitted to their religious profession at the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newberg road, this city. The very reverend rector, Father Cletus Brady, assisted by the master of novices, Rev. Denis Callegre, and the vice master, Rev. David Ferland, will conduct the solemn ceremony. A special sermon appropriate to the occasion will be preached and the choir, with Miss Luella Nally at the organ and little Miss Mary Waechter as soloist, will render music befitting the impressive ceremony. The young men to take their vows are James Francis Hoskins, Philpot, Ky.; John McErick, Columbus, Ohio; Michael Joseph O'Rourke, Chicago, Ill.; Charles Coyne, Cleveland, Ohio; Peter Banahan, Providence, R. I.; and Charles Judd, Minneapolis, Minn. The ceremony of the profession will take place in the chapel of the Retreat and the public is invited to attend.

FERRY'S BIG FOURTH.

An augmented bill—augmented by the presence of the Elks' Trio—will be presented in the theater at Parkers Ferry Park for the Fourth of July week, commencing with the matinee tomorrow afternoon. The Elks' Trio are none other than Amanda Norton Grey, Billy Green and Fred Wells. The three are well known in this city of their birth, and their vocal attainments have given them a big name since their advent in vaudeville. Headlining the bill in the theater will be Howard and Fields with their parlor car minstrels. "What Happened to Ruth," a satire in one act, will be found diverting, and "Hello George" Bissett and Scott will offer a dance review which gives promise of resulting in something out of the ordinary. A balloon matinee will be given children every Saturday, every child attending the matinee performance to be presented with a durable toy balloon. The Elks' Trio in addition to singing in the theater at every performance will be heard on the band stand at 11 p. m. each evening.

IRISH WERE FIRST.

The first soldier to fall at Columbus, N. M., was a Catholic, Thomas Butler, of Syracuse, N. Y. The first to fall at Vera Cruz was Private Haggerty, from Boston, Mass. Both were Irish-Americans.

MORGANFIELD.

Social interest this week in Morganfield centered in the wedding of Miss Martha Bowers and Peter Thomas, which was solemnized with a nuptial high mass Monday morning at St. Ann's church. Both bride and groom are widely related and very popular in that section.

THREE OF A KIND.

Boyd and Edmund Chester, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Chester, of South First street, and members of the First Regiment, were introduced to a namesake at the Armory this week, another Chester being added to the list of recruits, the newcomer being John Chester, and stated that he had served in the trenches in the European war.

HEROINE MOLLY FITCHER.

A monument was unveiled in the little old graveyard at Carlisle, Pa., on Wednesday in memory of Molly Fitcher, whose heroic deed at the battle of Monmouth 138 years ago this day gave her a place in American history. The memorial is an heroic statue of a woman, and was erected over her grave by the State of Pennsylvania. Gov. Brumbaugh delivered the principal address.

HAD MERRY DAY.

Thursday the Juvenile Court Committee of the Queen's Daughters and the John Thomas gave an all-day picnic for over a hundred girls of the preservation class of the Good Shepherd Convent on Bank street. The children were taken in large automobile vans to Big Rock in Cherokee Park, where they spent a merry day. A delicious lunch was provided and many friends enjoyed the day with them.

COLONELS VS. HOOSIERS.

Our bitter rivals and pennant contenders, the Indianapolis club, will begin a five-game series here this afternoon, and as these games, coupled with the Minneapolis and Kansas City series which follow, are most important in the struggle for the pennant big crowds are sure to be the rule. In this connection it should be the duty of every public-spirited citizen, and especially the followers of baseball, to give the Louisville club and Owner Wathen hearty support during the home stay. The Louisville owner has spent money liberally in endeavoring to give Louisville a pennant winner, which would be a splendid advertisement for the old town, and the present home stay is the best opportunity for the Louisville public to show their appreciation. The bad weather of the opening season, the poorly arranged schedule, the small crowds at St. Paul and Milwaukee and the injury to Daniels have been enough to dishearten any owner or club, and the Louisville public should follow the example of the Board of Trade and rally to the support of the Colonels and owner.

FINEST IN CHICAGO.

The Rev. Thomas F. O'Gara is the pastor of Corpus Christi church, Forty-ninth street and Grand boulevard, Chicago, which was dedicated on Sunday by Archbishop G. W. Mundelein. Father O'Gara has been pastor of the church since 1905. The church property, including the priest's house and the parochial school, cost $500,000. It is perhaps the finest and most expensive Catholic church in Chicago, not counting the Cathedral. It is built of white Bedford stone. The buildings form a square, the priest's house on the south, the parochial school on the west, the church on the north, and a covered cloister connecting the priest's house and the church on the east.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE POPULARITY CONTEST

Help send Your Favorites in the Twin City League to this season's

WORLD'S BASEBALL SERIES

10 Votes for Each Old and 20 for Each New Subscription. $1.00 Per Year.

The KENTUCKY IRISH AMERICAN will send the Two most popular members of the Twin City Baseball League to the World's Series with all expenses paid. Any player, officer, umpire or scorer eligible. Votes by ballot or paid subscription.

World's Series Popularity Contest
TWIN CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

This coupon, good for one vote, to be counted for

Mr.
Club or Position
whom I consider the most popular member of the Twin City League.

Following is the roster of the Twin City Baseball League, each of whom is entitled to enter the Kentucky Irish American's World's Series contest, the first coupon for which appears in this issue:

Imperial—Fussenecker, Traeger, Bosler, Aulbach, Murphy, Haas, Eschman, R. Pontrich, E. Harrigan, Elpers, Ohlie, Renn, Weber, Conners, F. Steir, Voor, Kraemer, Edelen, Chenoweth, McDermott.

Knights of Columbus—B. Schulte, Melcher, Frantz, Mattingly, Bohannon, Ceresi, Madden, Curley, Bosmeyer, Kenaley, Hamilton, Hammond, Joe Murphy, F. Weber, Clines. Mackin Council—C. Eilers, Thornton, Schlemmer, R. McGrath, Morris, Warren, Lally, L. Meisner, Davis, Hafner, Conley, Schene, Scheckler, Cronan, Atwell, Larkin, McDonough, Bertrands—R. Haragan, L. Haragon, Finn, Westerman, Higgins, Hines, Russ, House, Meagher, Carney, Fitzgerald, Bloemer, C. Flynn. Olympics—J. Murphy, Lovett, Dalton, Fries, M. Logan, J. Deeken, Chester, McIntyre, J. Scully, E. Flynn, Henry, O'Laughlin, Finnegan, T. Scully, W. Murphy, J. Murphy, C. Voss, G. Klier.

The results in the Twin City League Sunday left a standing which promises to furnish plenty of future excitement. The K. of C. and Champs are tied for first honors, the Mackin and Olympics for next and Imperials and Bertrands for the next. Little Tim O'Loughlin, for the Olympics, beat the K. of C. with a triple in the eleventh with three on and two out. The Champs had a hard time winning from Trinity, the tall-enders, and only managed to nose out a victory in the eighth. Imperials beat Mackin 9 to 7, but the winners could do nothing with Murphy, who went into the box in the fourth inning and struck out ten men. Bertrands won a ten-inning game from the Orioles, in which slugging was a feature, Jim "Busby" Hogan, of the Orioles, getting three two-baggers and a single, while McDonough, of the Bertrands, drove in runs three different times. Another upset is due tomorrow as they meet as follows: Bertrands vs. Olympics, Imperials vs. Champs, Trinity vs. Mackin and Orioles vs. K. of C. The standing to date:

|-----------|----|----|------|
| K. of C. | 9 | 2 | .818 |
| Champs | 9 | 2 | .818 |
| Mackin | 6 | 5 | .545 |
| Olympics | 6 | 5 | .545 |
| Bertrands | 5 | 6 | .455 |
| Imperials | 5 | 6 | .455 |
| Orioles | 4 | 7 | .364 |
| Trinity | 0 | 11 | .000 |

The Twin City League showed its patriotic spirit by leading the movement to postpone the amateur ball games of July 15 and 16 and urging their patrons to attend and show their appreciation of the Colonels and the enterprise of Owner Wathen on those dates. Through its slogan of "clean ball" the Twin City has blazed the way for amateur ball in this city and the large crowds on Sunday testify to its strength. With its following and support the Twin City represents 80 per cent. of the strength of the local federation of amateurs, but at the same time from the highest officials down to the substitute players the Twin City wishes to go forward as boosters for Owner Wathen and the Colonels and will be ever ready at all times to co-operate with him in local baseball affairs.

Votes by subscriptions, new and old, are coming in pretty fast in the World's Series Popularity Contest of the Twin City League and the friends of Ray Haragan, Bertrand's popular twirler, are seeing to it that he sets the pace. Supporters of some of the other candidates are casting votes steadily, however, and claim they want to keep in striking distance of the leaders until the finish, while it is rumored that several dark horses are being groomed and a combination made between two players, one from the East and the other from the West End of the city. The closeness of the race in the big leagues and with the certainty that the winners will be the most evenly matched in the history of the world series makes it attractive for every lover of baseball, and a trip to that series with all expenses paid and RESERVED SEATS GUARANTEED is a prize worth trying for. Votes by subscription, exclusive of clipped single ballots, to date:

ROGER NOHALTY ARRESTED.

The West End was thrown into quite a panic last Saturday evening when it was learned that Roger Nohalty, the well known Democratic leader in that district, had been taken into custody by the police of the Fourth district. A delegation headed by Councilman Tom Dolan and Harry Leachman went to the station house and after quite a lengthy argument with Capt. Ed Pulford as to allowing Mr. Nohalty out on bail, during which discussion the prisoner was getting his Irish up more and more as it developed that he had never learned why he had been arrested. Finally he was released and led by the delegation back to his own domicile, where a fish lunch and Dutch supper had been arranged in his honor, and the first one to greet him was the smiling Capt. Pulford, who had beat him home.

SACRED HEART SCHOOL.

The Sacred Heart Graded and Commercial School, Seventeenth and Broadway, one of the best in the State, finished another most successful year with the end of last week. Dispensing with the extra time and work necessary for a commencement, thus enabling the pupils to work up to the last minute, the school closed with simple services immediately after the high school Sunday morning when the Rev. Father Walsh, the pastor, distributed the diplomas, medals and certificates. The church was thronged with friends of the pupils, who were impressed with the sermon and words of Father Walsh, whose interest in the welfare of the school and children has been unceasing.

CONDITION IMPROVING.

The Rev. Father Berresheim, pastor of Holy Trinity church, East Kentucky street, who has been ill at St. Anthony's Hospital for the past two weeks, is improving slowly but surely. Yesterday was his feast day, and the people of Holy Trinity were keenly disappointed over his inability to celebrate it with them.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.

The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.

Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employees, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employees, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employees, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.
